The Eco-Lingua Kids Project is dedicated to enhancing second language learning for preschool and primary students by incorporating environmental education. This initiative aims to create a comprehensive, engaging, and sustainable approach to language learning, equipping educators with innovative resources such as an e-book, an e-library, and an e-learning platform. By merging language acquisition with environmental awareness, we foster a deeper connection between young learners and the world around them.

The Eco-Lingua Bootcamp in Rome brought together representatives from six partner countries to collaborate on effective language teaching methodologies within an environmental context. The event featured interactive workshops, discussions on early language acquisition strategies, and the development of lesson plans that merge language and environmental education.

ECO-LINGUA PROJECT UPDATES

To date, we made significant progress on the Eco-Lingua E-Book, which will soon be available in Spanish, Italian, English, Turkish, and Greek on our website. Work also continues on the E-Library and E-Learning Platform, ensuring educators have access to engaging and sustainable teaching materials. Stay tuned for upcoming updates as we move forward with our mission to make language learning more engaging and sustainable!
